Respect Life Corner: Hope

"I would now like to say a special word to women who have had an abortion. The Church is aware of the many factors which may have influenced your decision, and she does not doubt that in many cases it was a painful and even shattering decision. The wound in your heart may not yet have healed. ...But do not give in to discouragement and do not lose hope. ...The Father of mercies is ready to give you his forgiveness and his peace in the Sacrament of Reconciliation." ~Pope Saint John Paul II, Evangelium vitae, no. 99. © 1995, Libreria Editrice Vaticana.

Rincón del Respeto a la Vida:
Esperanza

Quisiera dirigir ahora unas palabras especiales a las mujeres que han abortado. La Iglesia es consciente de los numerosos factores que pudieron haber influido en su decisión, y no duda de que, en muchos casos, fue una decisión dolorosa e incluso devastadora. Puede que la herida de su corazón aún no haya sanado. ... Pero no se dejen llevar por el desánimo ni pierdan la esperanza. ...El Padre de las misericordias está dispuesto a darles su perdón y su paz en el Sacramento de la Reconciliación. ~Papa San Juan Pablo II, Evangelium vitae, n.º 99. © 1995, Libreria Editrice Vaticana.

Sunday XXVIII, October 12

Leprosy would make one ritually impure. It is against this background that we should understand the episodes in the first reading and in the gospel. In the first reading it was Naaman, the Syrian, and in the gospel ten unnamed lepers. The striking difference lies in the sense of gratitude shown by those who were healed. The 9 Jewish lepers healed by Jesus were more concerned about getting their healing confirmed and certified by the religious leadership, whereas the only non-Jew had no such strings attached. So, he went straight back to Jesus praising God. He prostrated before him and thanked Jesus.

In the second reading Paul acknowledges that he was healed of all impurities. He offers his gratitude to God by transforming himself to a total offering in favor of God's elect, i.e. for the Church. We also are washed clean. When we were baptized, we were cleansed of all sins, both original and actual. And every time we approach the sacrament of Reconciliation, we experience this purification all over again. After the example of St. Paul let us also transform ourselves into a spiritual offering for the good of the Church and of the world.

- Fr. Benny Kottarathil Antoney, OSB

Domingo XXVIII, 12 de octubre

La lepra hacía a uno ritualmente impuro. Es en este contexto que debemos entender los episodios de la primera lectura y del evangelio. En la primera lectura se trataba de Naamán, el sirio, y en el evangelio de diez leprosos anónimos. La notable diferencia radica en la gratitud mostrada por quienes fueron sanados. Los nueve leprosos judíos sanados por Jesús estaban más preocupados por que su curación fuera confirmada y certificada por los líderes religiosos, mientras que el único no judío no tenía tales condiciones. Así que regresó directamente a Jesús alabando a Dios. Se postró ante él y le dio gracias.

En la segunda lectura, Pablo reconoce que fue sanado de todas sus impurezas. Ofrece su gratitud a Dios transformándose en una ofrenda total a favor de los elegidos de Dios, es decir, de la Iglesia. Nosotros también somos purificados. Cuando fuimos bautizados, fuimos purificados de todos los pecados, tanto originales como actuales. Y cada vez que nos acercamos al sacramento de la Reconciliación, experimentamos de nuevo esta purificación. Siguiendo el ejemplo de San Pablo, transformémonos también en una ofrenda espiritual para el bien de la Iglesia y del mundo.

- P. Benny Kottarathil Antoney, OSB
